Scandinavian design meets fruit-infused water: the new WMF Motion water decanter

The stylish eye-catcher on every table: an elegant glass water decanter. With the Motion collection, the WMF brand is now bringing a new, elegant and particularly ergonomic version onto the market, in two different sizes. Whether it is filled with water, herbs, vegetables or fruit, in keeping with the trend for infused water, the decanter is not just pleasing on the eye but also provides a tasteful highlight. Thanks to its new design and its ideal shape, it sits perfectly in the hand and presents itself beautifully, time after time. A highlight that turns every glass of water into something special.

Form follows function: The minimalistic and impressively simple design of the new WMF Motion water decanter with its practical Cromargan® CloseUp cap, is centred around optimal handling. The decanter has recessed grips, which make it sit pleasantly in the hand while also ensuring safe pouring. The purist lines in a Scandinavian style steer the eye towards what is essential: the contents. Because for a long time now, water has not just been drunk on its own. Many combinations of infused water not only look magical, they also have positive effects on the body. Berries and fruits add sweetness to the water and deliver energy. Lemon boosts the metabolism and rosemary promotes concentration.

Stylish and elegant

The central detail is the pouring stopper made of stainless steel and silicone. The decanter is very easy to fill through the large opening. Pouring is splash-free and drip-free thanks to the smart CloseUp cap, which opens and closes automatically with the help of a tilting mechanism. An integrated strainer holds back pieces of ice and fruit. The cap can be removed for cleaning and, like the rest of the glass decanter, is dishwasher safe.

A hint of luxury

The first-class material mix of heat-resistant, hardened glass, high-grade, polished Cromargan®: stainless steel 18/10 and silicone represent quality and aesthetics. A practical detail: The decanter fits neatly in the door compartment of standard refrigerators, allowing you to pre-cool your table drinks perfectly. Because who would not be delighted to have a refreshing glass of water with tasty and vitamin-rich fruit pieces on a hot summer's day?
